Anita Stirrsman, Superintendent

Premiums: Blue - $5.00; Red - $3.00; White - $1.00

RULES

1. Each entry of bees, honey or beeswax exhibited must be produced in the exhibitor's apiary.
2. All honey entered in any class, with the exception of gift baskets and honey cookery, must be produced by the entrant.
3. Beeswax and cookery entries must be the product of the exhibitor, but he/she does not have to produce the honey or beeswax used in the entry. Honey products in displays must be the product of the entrant, but the raw beeswax may be produced by someone else. Any exhibitor found guilty of violating this rule will forfeit all premiums.
4. Honey will show better in oval, flat-sided or square clear glass containers than in round miscellaneous jars. Exhibitors should use

- the better display containers, if available. However, honey displayed in round clear glass containers or plastic containers will be accepted.
5. Labels are not allowed on jars, except for jars of honey in displays or gift baskets. Jars or containers of honey with labels (except in displays and gift baskets) will be disqualified.
6. Frames of honey (shallow & deep) must be in bee proof container with removable top for checking moisture. One frame per container. Damaged or otherwise hazardous exhibits will be discarded at the discretion of the Superintendent.
7. No person may handle any exhibit without the permission of the Superintendent. The Superintendent reserves the right to reject any entry that, in his/her opinion, is unworthy of entry. The decision of the Superintendent in charge shall be final. Each exhibitor will determine color classification. All observation hives shall be secure from opening to the satisfaction of the Bees and Honey superintendent. This shall include the top of the observation hive, and all holes and openings. Openings shall be secured by screws or locks.
